

End 9-Day Area Construction Strike

2-Year Contract Provides for Wage Increases

Medley Says Many Workers Already Returned to Jobs

A nine-day old strike by the International Union of Operating Engineers Local No. 318 which had affected construction work in the 14 southernmost counties of the state ended today with the signing of a two-year agreement.

The two-year contract with the Egyptian Contractors' association provides for a five cent an hour wage increase retroactive to Jan. 1, with a 10 cent increase as of July 1 and a 15 cent increase Jan. 1, 1957.

Stanley Medley of Harrisburg, business agent for the local, said many of the workers were back on the job today, and the remainder should be at work again tomorrow. Between 200 and 250 operating engineers were affected by the strike.

The settlement clears the path for work to resume at two big projects in southern Illinois which were affected by the strike. Construction work on the Southern Illinois University campus and work on the power plant of the Central Illinois Public Service Co. at Grand Tower had been halted.

Work can also get under way on the South Main-Robinson street paving project in Harrisburg. The Triangle Construction Co. has the contract to do the job.

Since the heavy equipment operators walked out July 2 over a wage demand, 18 southern Illinois contractors have signed separate agreements with the union.

The union represents the operators of heavy equipment such as bulldozers, draglines, hoists, and motor patrols.

Wilson Discusses Problems Handled by State's Attorney at Kiwanis Meeting

Problems and various types of cases handled by the State's Attorney were discussed by State's Attorney Bob Wilson before members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple.

Also present at the meeting were three members of the Joppa Kiwanis club who brought the traveling gavel of Division 16 to the Harrisburg club. The traveling gavel was delivered by Hadley Farmer, president of the Joppa club. He was accompanied by Howard Keller and Holman Meyer.

Members of the Harrisburg club will take the traveling gavel to the Anna Kiwanis club on Tuesday evening, July 24. President Ronnie Doerge has asked the Harrisburg club to be 100 per cent in attendance at Anna that night as the traveling gavel goes to the club who has the highest percentage of members present and the most miles traveled when visiting and delivering the gavel to another club. Local club members will leave here at 5 p. m. and the meeting at Anna will begin at 6:30.

The primary duty of the State's Attorney's office is to keep the peace Wilson stated. Prevention is the best way, he said, and use of the probation system often helps

Vodka Binge by Khrushchev May Cost Him Leadership in Soviet Union

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers speculated today that Nikita Khrushchev's love of vodka may cost him his leadership in the Soviet Union.

All of London's newspapers published front-page reports that a tipsy Khrushchev publicly insulted British Air Minister Nigel Birch, U. S. Air Force Chief of Staff Nathan Twining and other Westerners at a Moscow reception last week.

Several of them remarked that it might cost Khrushchev his job as leader of the Soviet Communist Party.

Daily Mail reporter Walter Farr said Khrushchev planned to take "a long holiday."

He quoted "an authority in a position to know the full facts" as saying Khrushchev's position in the Kremlin has been weakened because he must be regarded as an irresponsible drunk.

The "authority" also said the party leader has played into the hands of a powerful group which plans to destroy him. Centered around the "old guard" of Bolshevik leaders, this group was believed to consist of former Premier Georgi Malenkov, former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovitch, he said.

London's Communist Daily Worker jumped to Khrushchev's defense to deny the reports.

"Mr. K. did NOT abuse Mr. Birch," the Worker said, quoting a British Foreign Office spokesman as saying Tuesday that "there is no reason to suppose that anyone was insulted."

The Foreign Office declined further comment on reports of the vodka binge.

Stratton Considers Korean Bonus Plan; Will Announce Decision Soon

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today considered a Korean veterans bonus proposal which appeared to have small chance of winning his approval.

The proposal was agreed on Tuesday by a special bonus commission which recommended that the governor call a special session of the Legislature to place the plan on the November ballot.

Stratton's office said he would announce his decision on the plan within a few days.

The commission's proposal calls for:

$10 per month for each month served in the armed forces between June 27, 1950, and July 27, 1953.

An additional flat sum payment of $100 for those with the Korean service medal, that is those who served in the combat area.

A $1,000 payment to beneficiaries of persons killed in service during the period of the Korean war.

To be eligible for the bonus, a person would have to have served at least 60 days and lived in Illinois for at least six months before entering service.

The commission estimated the cost of the bonus at between 70 and 75 million dollars.

Bonds for the bonus would be retired over a 20-year period with income from the state utility tax in the general revenue fund.

Stratton has said he will call a special session only if the commission reached unanimous agreement on a "reasonable" bonus proposal.

He has insisted that the cost of any bonus proposal must not exceed 63 million dollars, including interest and must not be paid for from the general revenue fund.

Commission Chairman State Sen. Paul W. Broyles (R-Mount Vernon) said the group had reached unanimous agreement that a bonus should be paid. He did not say whether other details of the plan won unanimous approval.

But it was known that Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph), chairman of the State Budgetary Commission, opposed the plan for financing the bonus and its estimated cost.

The commission estimated the cost of the bonus this way: $3,000,000 for about 3,000 death payments; $6,000,000 for about 60,000 persons who served in the combat area; and about $53,100,000 for the monthly $10 payments to an estimated 295,000 veterans.

This total of about $62,100,000 would be increased to about 70 or 75 million by the interest on the bonds.

Propose Using Surplus Grain in Making Gasoline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two farm state congressmen proposed today that motorists be required to burn up surplus grain in their gas tanks.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) and Rep. Ben F. Jensen (R-Iowa) said in introducing their bill it would eliminate the government's 1,700,000,000 bushel surplus of corn and wheat within 14 months and add no more than 3 cents a gallon to the cost of gasoline.

They said in a joint statement that motorists would benefit because low-grade gasolines would be converted into "smoother-acting, powerful, high-grade extra mileage motor fuels."

The Jensen-Mundt bill would prohibit sale of gasoline or motor fuel unless it contained at least 5 per cent by volume of alcohol manufactured from grain.

To enforce compliance, it would levy an additional tax of 5 cents a gallon on production or importation of present types of fuel.

They said their bill is fair because the advent of gas-consuming automobiles and tractors eliminated the horses and mules which used to consume the now-surplus grain. The bill would waive the tax, once the grain surplus is eliminated.

Mundt and Jensen said that "agrol"—alcohol made from corn—has been mixed in motor fuels in many other countries for many years.

"One of those nations requires by law the use of 25 per cent agrol in all their motor fuel in order to keep their farm crops in normal supply," they added.

Bad Taste in City Water Due to Filter Construction

The bad taste and odor in the city water is, at least partially, due to the construction of additional filtering equipment at the water plant, Amos Doom, superintendent, stated today.

Construction work has reached the stage where workmen are now connecting the new unit in with the old units and one settling basin cannot be used while this part of the work is in progress, it is said.

With the old filtering units three settling basins were in use, but at present only two can be used. When the new construction is completed there will be five settling basins.

Doom stated he expected the water to begin to clear up today but the construction work isn't scheduled for completion until next week, so it would be several more days before there will be a big change in the taste and odor of the water.

Democrats Plan To Exploit Part-Time Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic high command was reported in agreement today that it should make full use of the "part-time President" issue in the 1956 campaign against President Eisenhower.

This viewpoint was attributed to the campaign advisers of the three active Democratic presidential contenders and to the ranking officials in Party Chairman Paul M. Butler's national headquarters.

Mr. Eisenhower erased any doubts about his second term candidacy Tuesday by passing the word through his congressional leaders that he is still available. He met with them at Gettysburg, Pa., where he is recuperating from his intestinal operation last month.

Feels Much Better

According to Sen. Styles Bridges, the President told the GOP leaders that he felt in better physical condition now than when he made his second term announcement Feb. 29, five months after his heart attack.

Mr. Eisenhower was reported to have said that he had long been bothered by intestinal trouble and was glad to have it cleared up.

By hitting at Mr. Eisenhower as a part-time President, the Democrats apparently hope to keep the health issue before the public in an indirect way. This technique would be calculated to minimize the risk that stress on the President's health might backfire with the voters.

Advisers to Adlai E. Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman and Sen. Estes Kefauver were said to have agreed that the "part-time President" issue should be exploited. The managers of these three Democratic candidates held a strategy conference here with Butler and other party officials last month.

Eight Injured Near Norris City

Eight persons were injured in two accidents near Norris City about noon Tuesday. Four are from Norris City and four from Danville, Ill.

The Norris City residents, Mrs. Opal Douglas, her two children, Donald, 17, and Pat, 18, and Mrs. Douglas' mother, Mrs. Emma Hammond, were admitted to Pearce hospital in Eldorado.

Mrs. Douglas was said to be the most seriously injured of the group, suffering cuts and a possible back injury. Mrs. Hammond sustained a broken right arm and cuts, bruises and possible internal injuries. Mrs. Douglas' daughter, Pat, escaped with minor cuts and bruises, while her brother received a broken elbow.

According to investigating officers, the mishap occurred when Mrs. Douglas, driving north on U. S. 45, about a mile south of Norris City, started to pass a truck and met another automobile. The passengers in the Douglas car were thrown against the windshield by the collision. No one in the other car was injured.

In the other accident, Samuel Camarata, his wife Dorothy, and their two small daughters, Cynthia Sue and Constance were injured. All were taken to Carmi Township hospital where they were treated for cuts and bruises and held overnight for observation.

U. S. Attorney Asks FBI to Aid Investigation

Requests Agents To Determine if U. S. Laws Violated

CHICAGO (AP)—U. S. Dist. Atty. Robert Tiekens today asked the FBI to enter the investigation of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge's office.

Tiekens said he had requested FBI agents to determine whether any federal laws had been violated in connection with the issuance of half a million dollars worth of "questionable" state warrants.

Tiekens said he wanted to know whether banking laws had been violated, whether there was any misappropriation of bank funds, and whether the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co. was the victim.

He admitted his request stemmed from bank attorney Vernon M. Welsh's statement that a "lot" of the checks under scrutiny were handled by the bank, and some were cashed by Edward A. Epping, office manager for Hodge.

Tiekens issued this statement:

"As a result of disclosures made by a bank spokesman that certain state warrants were cashed by the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co. for a person who wasn't named as payee, I have asked the FBI to determine whether there was any violation by bank officials or any other else of sections of the federal criminal code which prohibit the misappropriation of bank funds in a bank insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp."

Welsh said Epping cashed "a number" of the state checks.

"I have no idea at this time how many warrants he cashed, or how much money was involved," Welsh said.

Welsh said the bank, however, "is in a sound condition."

"The party injured is the state of Illinois, because these checks were issued without any legitimate payee or legitimate claim, from all appearances," he said.

"We are trying to run that down and hope to know in a day or two," Welsh said.

At Springfield, Sangamon County State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon said he would meet with Epping to discuss Welsh's statement. Coutrakon said he planned to talk to Welsh too.

Epping is listed as a director of Illini Investment Associates Inc., Springfield. President of that firm is William J. Lydon, Chicago, who also heads Fabric Sales Co., Chicago, a firm that now figures in the widening investigation.

Coutrakon disclosed Tuesday that he had uncovered at least 12 checks totaling more than $280,000 paid to the Fabric Sales Co.

Lydon is a member of the Chicago police force now on furlough until Monday. Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor ordered a deputy to look into the matter.

French Mother Pleads for Return Of Three Girls Adopted in U. S.

MONTAIGNE, France (AP)—A tearful French mother pleaded Tuesday for the return of her three little girls adopted by an American family and now living in Missouri.

Two months ago, Mr. and Mrs. John C. McGuire, St. Louis, adopted three little sisters of 5, 6, and 7 years and took them from a French public assistance institution to America.

Tuesday, their mother, who had taken no interest in them since a French court in Nancy ruled in 1952 that her unsettled life made her unfit to bring them up, wanted them back.

"I want my children back," said attractive Mrs. Gisele Chachal, "I want to make up for all I have lost."

Gisele's story is a long one. Shortly after the liberation, Gisele arrived in the big industrial town of Nancy.

She was born there, and in the aftermath of war she returned there seeking a job as a maid.

She met Zahar Sedie, an Algerian and a cafe proprietor, and she went to live with him. He was a handsome man, rather partial to women and whisky. From time to time he beat Gisele, she said in court.

"But he had a good heart," she said today.

In 1948 Gisele gave birth to a little boy. There followed in quick succession Alice Monique and Claudine, the three girls adopted by the McGuires and now called Nancy, Frances and Lorraine.

Zahar recognized the little boy as his own, and gave it his name. But he did not like little girls and took no responsibility for them.

In 1952 the local authorities decreed Gisele was not a fit person to care for her children because of the bar room atmosphere in which she lived. The four children were taken to an orphanage, from which they were adopted by the McGuires.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John C. McGuire today pleaded for "privacy" for their three adopted children whose French mother now seeks their return.

"The publicity could only hurt the children," said Mrs. McGuire, whose husband is a machinist's helper for Terminal Railroad here.

Life Movie Crew Filming Story of Eldorado Community Development

This morning Eldorado was getting ready to have its picture taken.

A seven-man movie crew from Life Magazine arrived in Eldorado Tuesday afternoon to film the story of Eldorado's community development program and shooting started this morning, will continue this afternoon and throughout tomorrow.

The big picture is listed for 5:30 p. m. today. Plans call for 3,000 to 4,000 Eldorado and surrounding territory persons to gather at the Eldorado Township high school football field. There the people will spell out the words "Eldorado Unites" and both still and movie pictures will be taken from the air.

The crew from Life Magazine includes David K. Hardy, producer-director; Gady Chang, assistant to the producer-director; Warren Siegmund, assistant producer; Kenneth Snelson, cameraman; Fred Gutman, assistant cameraman; Morgan Smith, soundman; John Steel, electrician.

A 90-minute film, sponsored by ACTION (American Council To Improve Our Neighborhoods), and the cost underwritten by Life Magazine, is being made with scenes from approximately 80 cities to be included.

Five communities with active development programs were selected for prominent places in the film and Eldorado is one of those five.

The movie crew departed by airplane from New York with New Haven Conn., the first stop on the journey. From there they flew to Riverside Calif., then to Seattle, Wash., and on to Decatur, Ill. The crew travelled by automobile from Decatur to Eldorado, arriving in our neighboring city yesterday afternoon.

In the above named five communities pictures of what they are doing to improve their community will be filmed.

Miss Grace Karnes, newspaper woman and descendant of one of Eldorado's pioneer families, will narrate the Eldorado Story. That part of the film was shot this morning.

This afternoon a picture will be made of the razing of an old, dilapidated building on North Fourth street and today will climax with the big scene at the ETHS football field.

A full day of movie picture taking is scheduled for Thursday.

Extinguish Grass Fires; Fire Chief Blames Children

The Harrisburg Fire department made two runs yesterday, both times to extinguish grass fires.

At 3:45 p. m. a blaze was extinguished on the Richard Schwartz property at 521 West Sloan, and at 6 p. m. they were called on to put out a fire across from the Bunny Bread building on East Raymond.

According to fire chief L. G. Martin, both fires were started by children playing with matches.

"I would like to issue an appeal to all parents to please see that their children do not play with matches," said Martin. "It's very dangerous for the children and could easily start a serious fire."

Orders Auditor To Increase Bond To $100,000

Could Declare Office Vacant and Name New Officer

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton confirmed today that he has asked State Auditor Orville E. Hodge to withdraw as a candidate for re-election.

Stratton today ordered Hodge to double his surety bond to $100,000 and said "public and party confidence" in Hodge "no longer exist."

Stratton said his statement could be interpreted to mean that he has asked Hodge to remove himself from the Republican ticket as a candidate for re-election.

The governor said he had written Hodge a letter pointing out that state law gives him discretionary power to demand an increase in the auditor's bond. Stratton said he was requiring Hodge to raise his present bond of $50,000 to the legal maximum of $100,000.

If Hodge does not supply the bond within 20 days, Stratton said, the governor has discretionary authority to declare the office vacant and appoint a new auditor.

Asked if he would declare the office vacant if Hodge did not supply the bond, Stratton said, "I think that's pretty obvious, yes."

Earlier Hodge walked out of a conference in his office with State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon and refused to answer any further questions on advice of counsel.

Asks FBI To Enter Case

The incident occurred as Coutrakon attempted to question Hodge in the auditor's office, in connection with the investigation of "questionable" checks Coutrakon said the auditor's office issued.

There were these other developments:

U. S. Dist. Atty. Robert Tiekens announced in Chicago that he had asked the FBI to enter the case and investigate state checks re-

New Law Requiring Fasteners For Safety Belts Now in Effect

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—
A new state law which requires manufacturers of passenger automobiles to so construct each new car that the buyer may attach safety belts, is expected by the law's sponsors to save many lives.
He believes that it also has alerted car manufacturers to increased safety in car-building and to have made the nation's car users more safety conscious.

State Rep. Ralph Stephenson, Moline, who sponsored the law and got it through the 1955 legislature after a hard struggle but with some good assists from his district colleague, State Rep. Richard Stengel, Rock Island, now a candidate for U. S. senator, and State Rep. Rollo R. Robbins, Augusta, said if the new law "saves one life it will be worth all the effort and hard work I applied in its passage."

Even before the legislature passed it and before it was signed into law by Gov. William G. Stratton, it had other help in the public acknowledgment of the value of safety belts by use of them on the cars of Stratton, Stephenson, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley;
Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline; and State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

The new law which went into effect on July 1, states that no new passenger automobile may be registered thereafter unless it is designed to be equipped with a device so that the owner may attach a seat belt and that the device shall be capable of conformance with the Society of Automotive Engineers seat belt specifications. It does not apply to old passenger cars or to old or new trucks.

Up to The Owner

Stephenson said the law means that manufacturers now MUST so construct a passenger automobile so that the car buyer will be able to attach a safety belt, if he so desires but that nothing compels the buyer to attach the belts if he does not want them. It is up to each owner, he said, to decide whether he wants safety belts but the manufacturer MUST provide devices for them on the chassis or frame.

The Moline lawmaker said he sponsored the safety belt law because of his experience as a police magistrate before he was elected to the legislature. During the ten years of his presiding on the Moline City Court he heard more than 12,000 traffic cases
"and I became thoroughly convinced that slaughter on our highway is a most acute and important problem."

"After considerable research and with the cooperation of groups making a study of the feasibility of seat belts," said Stephenson, "I was completely convinced that the use of this safety measure would have thousands of lives. Engineers, doctors, universities and aviation all recognized the stupendous results of various tests and statistics revealed many persons were killed by sprung doors."

"This results" in many persons being killed as they were hurtled through the open door whereas had they had seat belts they might have escaped death or injury. In my opinion the new law alerted the automobile manufacturer because when it was placed on our statutes we witnessed a nationwide publicity campaign by the manufacturers for safety, such as new dash boards, better door locks, etc."

Another new law which relates to traffic safety on streets and highways and which went into effect July 1 is that which requires all newly-manufactured trucks to have right and left turn signals.

The same provision for passenger cars went into effect two years ago. The requirement for trucks was co-sponsored by Reps. George W. Wilson, Baylis, and A. B. Mc-Connell, Woodstock.

Although the deadline for having 1956 state automobile license plates was last January 1 offenders are still being picked up.
Records of the office of Secretary of State show that his uniformed automobile investigators halted 197 unlicensed cars during the first half of 1956 and required their owners to pay $87,023 for current plates.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

A boy's pockets are the repository for many items which have strange relationships and which are frequently of questionable value. We criticize the lad who fills his pockets with bubble-gum wrappers, marbles, pieces of string, wornout flashlight batteries, mousetraps, nails, candy, and cracker crumbs.

Likewise, we joke about the items "lost" in a woman's handbag. The little purse of recent years has been replaced with a "carry-all" of sizable proportions.
The briefcase, too, has grown to sizable proportions. It now carries a lot of things which have been dropped into it with no thought of immediate need or ultimate value.

Our lives also are carrying a variety of interests and bits of information which could well be questioned in value. They could be replaced by worthwhile guides for life and thought. We often admit our spiritual confusion and sometimes we even confess that our lives are not what they ought to be.

This is as good a time as any to get rid of the extraneous activities and unimportant ideas.
Many sins and temptations have appeared trivial and insignificant.
We have tucked them away in the back of our minds without realizing how serious they handicap our normal living.

God wants us to establish life patterns which will be free from selfishness and sin. We shall certainly enjoy more abundant living if we do some housecleaning and establish spiritual order.

Fishing Worms Come From Vending Machines

SALEM, Ore. — And now comes a coin-operated vending machine to dispense fishing worms.

Mrs. Joyce Wood of Salem has invented a machine which will deliver to fishermen a supply of worms in small cans.

Mrs. Wood, who has some 20-000 worms in barrels, boxes and other containers, says she plans to supply fishermen with several thousand worms daily during the fishing season. The vending machines will be set at strategic places so all the fishermen has to do is deposit a coin in the slot and out comes his bait.

Industry's Brooms Sweep Cleaner

CHICAGO — America's best housekeepers are not in the home any more but in industry, says the president of the National Sanitary Supply Association.
Lacy Crain, of Dallas, Tex., who attended the association's recent meeting here, said:
"As good a housekeeper as the American woman is and always has been, she has been surpassed in efficiency by professional housekeepers of industrial and commercial maintenance."

He said American industry spends about $10,000,000,000 a year for plant and factory housekeeping.

Joppa Negotiations Still Deadlocked

JOPPA, Ill. — Negotiations remained deadlocked today in a strike of 200 operating engineers at the Joppa steam power plant.
Local 314 of the International Union of Operating Engineers walked out June 30 in a dispute over wages and the length of their new contract with Electric Energy Inc.

Supervisory employees are running the plant, which supplies electrical power to the Atomic Energy Commission plant near Paducah, Ky.

The weather bureau says the common belief that the water content of the snowfall is seldom true.
The water content can vary from three to 30 per cent of the density of the snow.

Nixon Sure of Renomination Capitol Republicans Believe; Rough Campaign Predicted

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — It will be Eisenhower and Nixon again for the Republicans and the 20th Century's roughest presidential campaign so far.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is as sure now of renomination as is President Eisenhower, assuming they both live. That was the impression Mr. Eisenhower's congressional conferees carried away from Gettysburg Tuesday. That is the judgment of Republicans in general on Capitol Hill.

Nixon returns today from his swing through the Far East as Mr. Eisenhower's No. 1 ambassador.

"I never had any doubt," said Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) when asked about Nixon's renomination. "No doubt," echoed others who were sampled for Republican opinion on Nixon's political future.

Seconded by Hagerty
The Republican leaders who conferred Tuesday with Mr. Eisenhower said they took it for granted that Nixon was to be named again for vice president.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty quickly backed them up. "I think it is very clear," Hagerty said in response to a query.

Nixon probably will be the next important visitor to the Gettysburg White House to report on his journey.

Personals

Linda Fay Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dunn, 105 West Sloan street, is spending a two-week vacation in Evansville, visiting with a friend, Linda Wiley, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Wiley of Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gates of this city have returned from a trip to New Mexico. They stopped in Montgomery, Ala., where they visited their daughter, A/SC Emma Gates, who is stationed at Maxwell Air Force Base. From there they motored to New Mexico to visit Mrs. Mary Basinger, Mr. Gates' niece. Airman Gates accompanied her folks home and will return to base July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grazier of Oakland, Calif., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Jane C. Thompson, Waldo Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. George O. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roberts of St. Louis, Mo., spent a week of their vacation in Harrisburg with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stout and Mrs. Sarah Roberts. The group went to Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., and saw the Great Smoky Mountains and Ruby Falls cave, also the Rock City Gardens atop Lookout Mountain. Upon returning to Harrisburg Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left for Lake of the Ozarks to spend some time before going to St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Norris and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dale Fulkerson returned Sunday from a week's vacation spent touring Florida and other southern states. They traveled to Florida by way of Tennessee and Georgia and returned thru the Mississippi route. In Florida they spent time in Daytona Beach and scenic St. Augustine and toured the Naval Air Base in Pensacola.

ney. And the time has come for these two men unpredictably teamed by politics to begin planning their campaign strategy. Nixon will press for a bare-knuckled attack.

The drama of the coming campaign and some of the bitterness arises from the arithmetic of their ages. Nixon, aged 43, will be on the ticket with a man of 66 years and whose 70th birthday would pass before the end of a second term. And the No. 1 man has suffered a heart attack and major surgery in the past 10 months.

Top Campaign Issue

The stark possibility that Mr. Eisenhower will not survive a second term and that Nixon would succeed him has been tagged by leading Democrats as a top campaign issue. Back there in the '30s and '40s there were whispers, no more and they were promptly condemned — of Franklin D. Roosevelt's physical infirmity. But it never became an openly discussed issue, nor did the polio he suffered appear to curb FDR's spirits or vitality.

But a candidate's health and life expectancy will be hotly disputed in this campaign, with medical opinion as you like it. All of this puts Nixon in an unprecedented spot for a second man. The vice presidency uniformly has been an obscure position, more often than not a dead end.

Nixon, however, has become a powerful and controversial figure on the American scene. He is admired and applauded; hated and despised. His rise in national politics to the House and Senate was at the expense of notable new dealers, each well to the left of center.

Frank Ude entered the cook shack just before dawn. "We'll start inside an hour. They can't stop us," he said.

That brought a pleased look to Jean's face and he wondered what she would do if he kissed her. She flushed under his steady appraisal and turned to her cookstove.

"Swede will be coming to help us," she said. "I expect Doc and Juan Lopez, maybe Hyman too. Ricky says he's riding along. Maybe you'll let him drive the wagon. He promised to stay in bed till Doc gets here."

"He and Tod can take the wagon," Frank agreed.

Presently she brought him his breakfast. After he had finished his plate she still stood pensively behind his chair. "I am glad you're sensible about one thing, Frank. I'd hate to argue with you about being left behind—there's no sound reason for it."

He rose from his chair, sliding it slowly beneath the table. Still she stood watching. He lifted his glance and met her head-on look.

His encircling arms brought her solidly against his chest. Now she tilted her head backwards against his arm, smiling with her black eyes and with her lips. He bent forward meeting her mouth. A soft, low sigh ran from her throat.

She drew away from him. Her fingers still pressed lightly against his chest, her eyes sparkling. "I have paid my way," she said slowly. "Now I can ride along to McHenry with my horses. I don't owe you anything."

Dr. George La Tour came riding up to the ranch house on a shaggy mare, with his cowhide medicine case strapped to his saddle. He's had a rough night, starting with the amputation of Yates's arm.

Frank spoke:

"Better have a look at Ricky. He wants to ride with us."

La Tour nodded. "First, I'll have a drink."

He uncapped his old Army canteen. The tip of his nose began to glow with anticipation. "You old rum-belly!" Jean murmured. But there was affection and odd esteem for him tucked into her voice.

Capping the canteen, the doctor's glance moved toward the smoking rubble that last night had been a log house. "So Hackett did that?"

"Judging by what Ricky saw."

La Tour nodded, his eyelids virtually coming together. "Corbin rode out to Sims's place to fetch me," he said presently. "When I reached Cashtown I found a mess. Somebody pried open the shutter to Lily's room and shot Jonathan Yates in the head."

"Wasn't anything I could do except take care of Jubal Sims, who's still sick from a crack on the skull. Chantry has disappeared. I'm worried, Frank, because his horse showed up with its reins tied to the horn. Steve Norring's running the town."

And then Doc's face lowered and lines creased his leathery skin. He told gravely of finding Lily Arnette.

They were going to bury her this afternoon. Hyman didn't want to wait for the funeral.

Doc shook his head from side to side almost violently. "But what gets me is the knife that killed her," he murmured. "Rambaut's skinning knife! We found her in Lew Chantry's stable. Lew's horse wasn't in the stall."

Jean carried her scanty possessions to the wagon. They were mighty few. The first last night had left her threadbare except for the riding clothes she wore and a few blouses that had been on a wash-line.

She heard Frank stirring along-side the bunkhouse and came over to him. She avoided looking directly at him but her hand crept into his and her fingers pressed tightly.

When the silence drew out she spoke: "It might not be as hopeless as it looks. Maybe when we get to the Skull badiands I'll have something to suggest."

"If you've got some plan you'd better tell it now."

She was silent, a deep concentration putting a tautness in her face. Then she shook her head. "No. too much gamble, Frank. We better not."

Swede rode into the gray yard topping a hammer head bun. The cook, Juan Lopez, rode loosely slacked in his Mexican saddle. The black haired musician Hyman rode a big grulla. His face wore a mask intended to cover the misery Frank knew was boiling inside. He carried a Confederate Officers' pistol in his belt and a violin case was strapped to his back. Each man rode to the wagon, dropping in the extra supplies he carried. When they were finished they reined about Frank. Hyman still carried the violin case.

"Here's Tod and Ricky," Jean said abruptly. "We're ready!"

Alex Jacobs had brought in the string and was leading Jean's saddled bay and Frank's chestnut. Frank motioned Swenson over to the string while Alex brought up their mounts. Hyman kneed his horse beside Swede.

The pain had mostly left Juan's burns and he continued to sit with him, awaiting his orders. Frank was grateful for this outfit that was volunteering for a trail that held only bloodshed. He smiled frankly at Juan. "Good to know we'll have a cook."

Lopez flashed his teeth, his bandaged fingers patting the stock of an old sheathed cavalry carbine. "Senor Frank! I can do much more than cook!"

Frank knew then he had a ringy crew.

Hoover Lists Six Rules if Child Kidnaped

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today laid down six rules for parents to follow if their child is kidnaped.

He said if the rules are followed immediately they provide the best method for the safe return of a kidnap victim. He laid down the rules as the search continued for the kidnaper of little Peter Weinberger of Westbury, N. Y.

He said parents should:

1. Call the FBI.
2. "Maintain absolute secrecy" about the abduction except to investigating officers.
3. Not handle ransom notes from the kidnaper. Hand them over at once to investigators.
4. Not touch or disturb anything at the scene of the crime. Clues invisible to the naked eye might be destroyed.
5. Be calm. Try to maintain a normal routine around office and home.
6. Place full confidence in investigators and provide them with full details on the victim including "personal habits, characteristics and peculiarities."

Hoover assured the families of kidnap victims that "when kidnappings occur the first concern of the FBI and other law-enforcement agencies is always the safe return of the victim."

The nation's top G-man reminded parents that the kidnaper is one of the most ruthlessly hunted criminals of the underworld.

He said that since 1932, when kidnaping became a federal offense, the FBI has investigated 459 cases. Of that number, 457 have been solved. The other two still are under active investigation.

NO WAY TO RAISE 'EM—Mama's howling mad at a human's idea of the way to bring up kittens—even if it's a photographer's way of dreaming up a picture in Tallahassee, Fla. It was only a temporary catastrophe: two kittens shown are now back to earth together with their three brothers and sisters.

Junior-sized Chores A 'Must' for Children

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — A child needs to feel needed as well as secure, so let him help with household chores and develop responsibility at the same time, says a University of Illinois educator.

But, the tasks you give him should be necessary, not just something to keep him busy, says Marguerite Briggs. Best thing to do, she said, is to emphasize the youth's own interests. Praise a job well done, but don't make a child feel he is a poor worker if his project is not perfect, the specialist said.

When heavy machinery and other bulky freight to be transported on British Railways find the roadway obstructed by bridges and lineside structures, special trains are provided and the lineside structures are removed temporarily.

Relation of Height, Intelligence Posed

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Tall students aren't necessarily the most intelligent students, nor is the class dance always short.

However, Dr. Cecil V. Millard, director of child development at Michigan State University, believes height maturity does have some relation to mental maturity.

Millard said a child's I.Q. is not constant; as a child develops physically and socially his I.Q. changes.

The individual's personal-social development may be affected by the degree which these various measurable aspects of a child's parallel each other in starting points, rates of progress and leveling off points.

Millard used a group of 40 boys to measure the relationship between intelligence level and height level. They were given several annual height and intelligence measurements over a six-year period.

Each boy's height at 10 years was divided by the estimated maximum height he would attain and this figure was called "the percentage of height development at age 10."

After calculating the height maturity for each boy, Millard then averaged the percentages of the 40 boys to obtain a group average.

Each boy's percentage was divided by the group average and the resulting figure for each boy was called the "height I.Q." When that was established, there was a relationship with the boy's actual I.Q.

Galatia High School Alumni Hold Reunion

The Galatia Community High School Alumni association held a reunion at Karel park Sunday, July 18, with 181 graduates and their families in attendance.

The reunion started with a basket dinner under the big shelter house at Karel park at 12:30 p. m. Preceding the dinner Rev. Buddy Peyton, Class of 1952, gave the invocation.

Announcements were made by the association president, Jacqueline Harris and the treasurer's report was made by Mrs. Sybil (Bovinet) Peyton.

One announcement of great interest was that the Alumni reunion would be held at three year intervals, the next get-together to be a banquet in December, 1959.

Dues in the association were established at $1 for three years. Anyone wishing to become a member of the GCHS Alumni may send their dues to Mrs. Peyton, the treasurer, Box 44, Galatia.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Hall and Mrs. Charles Hall of Pontiac, Mich., travelled the greatest distance to attend the reunion and the Class of 1944 had the largest representation.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Sloan represented the largest alumni family, but the four daughters of Mrs. Louisa Smith Bond, Class of 1943, was the largest family present.

Last May the alumni presented the Galatia high school with a Wurlitzer Spinet piano and the officers of the association expressed their thanks to all who contributed to the piano fund.

Mistakes Costly To Mt. Carmel Man

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. — Herbert P. Goodman, 26-year-old railroad worker, was fined $50 and costs here today because he made several mistakes Monday night.

Goodman was charged with driving while intoxicated after he backed his car into another auto three times. The driver of the other car was Mount Carmel Police Chief Jesse Batchelor.

Concentrated News Coverage For Demo National Convention

CHICAGO — The Democratic national convention next month will have the "largest on-the-spot concentrated news coverage of any event in the world since the beginning of time."

This is the way J. Leonard Reinsch, in charge of convention arrangements, sums up the preparations being made by the nation's news media.

Reinsch, assistant to Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, said he expects almost 4,000 personnel from newspapers, magazines, radio and television to be on hand for the convention, which begins Aug. 13.

Preparations already are well underway at the sprawling International Amphitheatre. Since the Democrats met here last in 1952, the amphitheatre has grown by 188,000 square feet.

An entirely new structure, Exposition Hall, has been built at a cost of two million dollars. It makes the amphitheatre the largest exposition building in the

Helicopter Shuttle Service

A heliport has been built atop the amphitheatre, and officials believe it will prove a boon to newspaper services and television networks.

The networks and news services plan to use the heliport to shuttle pictures via helicopter between the amphitheatre and Midway Airport, for shipment throughout the nation.

Reinsch said seats for visitors at the convention will be limited because the number of delegates this year will be almost double that of the 1952 convention.

In 1952 there were 1,632 delegates and 1,632 alternates. This year, under the half-vote plan, there will be a maximum of 2,744 delegates and 1,896 alternates.

This means that the entire main floor, which four years ago seated both delegates and alternates, will be filled with delegates only. In the mezzanine, 1,900 seats will be reserved for alternates.

No Hotel Room Shortage

But there should be no shortage of hotel rooms, although some VIPs may not get the suites they desire. The Chicago Convention Bureau said 11,825 of the Chicago area's 35,000 transient hotel rooms have been set aside for the convention trade.

The Illinois Bell Telephone Co. estimates there will be a 10 to 30 per cent increase in communications requirements this year compared with the 1952 convention.

Company spokesmen said the amphitheatre will require an estimated 32 switchboards, 4,000 telephones, more than 100 phone booths, 160 private lines, hundreds of special lines and 1,330 trunks. Other facilities will be installed for various headquarters in downtown hotels.

The company said 54 microwave "dishes" for television will be installed, including 28 atop the amphitheatre, 10 on the Conrad Hilton Hotel and the remainder on other large buildings.

At the convention site the company will install a message center staffed by 80 operators, trained to handle all incoming calls for delegates.

A feature of the center will be a large screen on which will be posted by means of a special projector the names of those for whom there are messages, the latest weather reports, baseball scores and the like.

There also will be a TV lounge where delegates can watch televised convention proceedings between telephone calls.

Miss Judith Carolyn Gates, Pierre J. Martenev Married in Champaign Church

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre J. Martenev

Before an altar decorated with candelabra, palms and baskets of white stock and daisies, Miss Judith Carolyn Gates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Gates, Champaign, formerly of Harrisburg, became the bride of Pierre J. Martenev, son of Col. and Mrs. C. Walton Martenev, Omaha, Nebraska, and Winston, Canada.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Col. Martenev, chaplain, Sunday, June 10, in a three o'clock service at the University Baptist church in Champaign. One hundred guests were present.

Mrs. W. Harold Iles was organist and played a recital of bridal music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a cocktail length gown of candlelight silk, which she designed and made, fashioned with a scoop neckline in front which dipped to a low V in back. The long torso extended into a straight panel in front with the sides being of embroidered tissue silk brought from Japan by Chaplain Martenev. Her embroidered silk fitted cap edged with pearls secured a shoulder length veil of silk tulle. She carried beige cymbidium orchids with bronze throats on a white Bible and wore a cameo which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Robert Moore of Harrisburg. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Howard Jones, the former Luella Gates, Champaign, was matron of honor wearing a gown styled similar to that of the bride in Dior blue silk. Her headpiece was a matching band with a short illusion veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white Ester Reed daisies and wore matching pearl earrings and necklace.

Jerry Herschen, Cleveland, Ohio, a fellow University of Illinois graduate student, was best man, and ushers were Theodore Hopkins, Indianapolis, Ind., and Donald Woessner, Sterling, also University of Illinois students.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gates chose a light blue silk sheath and matching jacket with pearl and rhinestone trim and matching accessories. Mrs. Martenev wore a rose lace frock with a white butterfly rose corsage.

Serving at the reception in the Gates home were Mrs. Robert R. Gates of Carbondale, sister-in-law of the bride, and two Alpha Chi Omega sorority sisters, Miss Patte Edwards, Springfield, and Miss Cindy Wallace, Virginia Beach, Va.

For a wedding trip in the West the new Mrs. Martenev changed to a turquoise and avocado green silk sheath with white accessories. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will be at home at 1501 South State street in Champaign.

The bride attended Harrisburg schools and is a 1952 graduate of Champaign high school. She was active in the University of Illinois Theater, Star Course and home economics club. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega, social sorority, and Phi Upsilon Omicron, professional sorority. She is a June graduate of the University of Illinois with a major in home economics education. She plans to study toward a Master's degree in home economics education and child development, and has an assistantship for the coming year in child development.

The bridegroom, a 1953 graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, was also active on the campus. He has an assistantship in chemical research and is working toward his Ph. D. in physical chemistry at the University of Illinois.

up of 717,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and 205,176,000 bushels of spring wheat.

The wheat estimate compared with prospects last month of 222,672,000 bushel all-wheat crop. This was made up of 670,375,000 bushels of winter and 252,297,000 bushels of spring wheat. The estimate for the spring wheat crop was based largely on prospective planted acreage reported in March.

Last year the all-wheat crop totaled 836,761,000 bushels. The 10-year average production was 1,148,289,000 bushels. This year the wheat crop again was limited to production on 35 million acres.

It compares with the revised output last year of 3,241,536,000 bushels and 1954-55 average production of 3,084,389,000 bushels of the key livestock feed grain.

The wheat forecast was made

The crop reporting board estimated 77,506,000 acres of corn will be harvested this year, compared with 79,900,000 acres harvested in 1955. It estimated yields this year averaging 42.1 bushels an acre.

The revised acreage yield for 1955 was 40.6 bushels an acre.

The board estimated 50,466,000 acres of wheat will be harvested in 1956, compared with 47,255,000 acres harvested in 1955. It estimated yields would average 18.3 bushels an acre compared with revised 1955 average yields of 19.8 bushels an acre.

Anyone for Measles?

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — A doctor advised British girls Tuesday to hold German measles tea parties so they may catch the disease before expecting a baby. "I would like to see the medical research council run a holiday camp to keep the disease going," Dr. G. I. Watson told the British Medical Association. He said the women should have German measles before expecting a child to reduce the chances of her catching them during the critical months of her pregnancy.

Card of Thanks

PLYE—We take this way to express our heartfelt thanks for many floral offerings and for sympathy shown to us during the illness and death of our dear mother, Mrs. Alma Rev. Eugene Nolen and the Rev. Ernest Ammon, the quartet, pallbearers, flower girls, and the Thornton funeral home, and our friends and neighbors. May God bless you, one and all.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Liddle, whose deaths occurred July 11 and July 12, 1953 and 1955 respectively.
In memory we see them yet, though they are away.
'Tis lonely here without them, but we shall meet again some day.
We listen for their voices, now still.
Their steps we hear no more.
Their gentle words and loving smiles are memories
We keep in store.
When we shall lay our burden down and tolling here is o'er.
We will go to meet our loved ones on Heaven's golden shore.
The old home place is lonely since they passed away.
We go back one year. All that is there are sweet memories of long ago. The orange tree is now in bloom, and memories linger still.
Sadly missed by her sister, Mrs. Maggie Kimbro Harrisburg, their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Falls, Muncie, Ind., and sister-in-law Mrs. Sharon Liddle and nephews Donald and Wilburn Liddle, Cleveland, Ohio. 11-1

DOWNSTATE FISHERMAN'S GUIDE:

Little Grassy Exception to General Fishing Low; Study Strip Mine Ponds

By Pete Brown

(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation.)

Holiday fishermen in southern Illinois probably ran into enough ill luck during the week to blight their memories until Labor Day. Fishing hit a general low during the week of the Fourth, and a wide variety of storms and other conditions did nothing to improve things on the holiday itself.

An exception to the trend was Little Grassy Lake where crappie fishing has been good although sizes are running small. Bass fishing, an on-and-off proposition, is fair to good at this writing (July 5).

Vacationing fishermen with plenty of time and inclination are keeping Julius Swayne's baithouse freezing units loaded with crappie. Benny Sitter, Dupo, brought in more than 300 in two days. Several others have taken home boxes of 100 or more.

George Bates of East St. Louis, trolling a Bomber, caught five bass weighing from one and a half to five and a half pounds. W. Thomas, Belleville, landed a six and one half pounder on a Lucky 13. Oscar Ernest, Du Quoin, caught five, the largest going six and one half pounds. He was also trolling with a Bomber.

Crab Orchard Off

Most notable catch was by a Carbondale man, John Wagner. Using a Dragnetter he netted an old gentleman tipping the scales at eight pounds, six ounces.

Crab Orchard Lake dockside reports seem only a few small bass brought in. Carbondale City Lake is giving up a few bluegill and two to four pound white perch, but little else. Even the catfish, in which this lake is supposed to abound, have quit biting. Gordon Gibbs of Carbondale, a "hard working" fisherman, was last seen cleaning his squirrel gun after laboring an unrewarding week at the reservoir.

Horseshoe and Murphysboro Lakes showed next to nothing during the week. Bass and crappie weren't hitting at all and the run of bluegill was skimpy and small. Strip Mine Ponds

The column has been asked for some information about mine pond fishing in southern Illinois.

The question comes at an opportune time since the Cooperative Fisheries Laboratory of Southern Illinois University is undertaking a study of strip ponds for recreational fishing.

There are 21,700 acres of strip-mined land in southern Illinois, some three or four per cent of which is water area. The SIU studies, supported by the Illinois Coal Strippers Association, are being conducted at ponds on 3,520 acres of strip-mined area near Pyatt. There are some 140 ponds varying in area from a fraction of an acre to 16 acres in this territory.

Recreational Value Limited

Preliminary work has revealed some unique details about strip ponds. Of 21 ponds studied, four were too acid for fish and no production could be expected in these ponds. All of the waters contained four to six times as many dissolved minerals as most farm ponds. The extreme depths of many ponds makes weed treatment, rough fish removal and other management techniques well nigh impossible. Practical drainage, also valuable from a management standpoint, is also virtually impossible.

The steep spoil banks and smallness of the ponds also limits their recreational value somewhat.

The picture has some bright spots, however. Vernon Cole, a new addition to the SIU Laboratory staff who has done considerable strip pond management work for the state of Ohio, says "there is every reason to believe management procedures can be developed to boost fishing in even the acid ponds." In the study now planned, highly acid ponds in the Pyatt area will be neutralized and other pools fertilized to increase productivity. The acidity may prove to be helpful in the process since it kills undesirable weed species. Once the ponds have been treated they will be stocked with combinations of game fish.

One intriguing possibility for strip ponds is managing them for trout fishing. Low fertility, depth and wind protection makes them suitable for trout, which would be an exciting addition to the area's gallery of game fish. Water in the ponds stratifies and oxygen content is high in the cold depths.

Some Ponds Fertile

Another possibility is put-and-take hatcheries, which have proven successful in strip ponds. The restocking would be necessary since reproduction facilities in most ponds are nil.

At present, green sunfish and bluegill are abundant in 13 of the 21 ponds studied. Largemouth were found in five. The green and turquoise colored ponds (the color indicates low pH value) contained no fish.

Occasionally the lucky angler will find a productive mine pond, one which receives fertile drainage and shows more of the characteristics of a fertile farm pond. Several ponds in the Cambria-Carterville area produce some good crappie, bluegill, and now and then a largemouth. Most of them, though, are typical of the ones near Pyatt.

Three Albion fishermen — Earl Walker and Eugene and Melvin Horton — caught an eight pound channel catfish on a Little Wabash river trotline, which wouldn't be so unusual except that the critter was pure white. The Chicago Museum says the oddity is reported by fishermen over the entire country at the rate of one every two years. The freak was turned over to the Conservation Department and will be exhibited at the State Fair in Springfield. Sam Parr of the Department says it is the first he's seen in his 27 years with the department.

Pirates, Sugar Creek, Pickford's Suffer First Losses in Kiwanis Play

By David Nelson

The Cubs clubbed the Pirates, 18-5, Jackson's Drugs downed Sugar Creek, 15-5, and Crab Orchard edged Pickford's, 5-4, as each league leader lost its first game in Kiwanis League play Tuesday.

Beal tossed a three-hitter for the Cubs, walking six while striking out 11 in the five-inning contest. The winners led all the way over the Pirates as they racked up 10 runs in the first frame.

Stiles, Lambert, Beal and Beth had two hits apiece for the Cubs, and Cook homered and singled for the losers. Vick was the losing pitcher.

Jackson's took an early lead with five runs in the first inning and never gave it up as they handed Sugar Creek its first defeat, 15-5. Craver was the winners' hero, pitching a six-hitter while picking up three safe blows himself, and Gee and Guley hit safely twice for Jackson's. Wiley led the losers at the plate with a triple and single. Karnes was the losing pitcher.

Hearn pitched a two-hitter and scored the winning run in the last half of the seventh as Crab Orchard edged out a dramatic 5-4 victory over Pickford's. In the last of the seventh, with the score tied, 4-4, Mataya walked, stole second, advanced to third on a passed ball, but was thrown out in a close play at the plate when he attempted to score on a short passed ball. After Hearn walked and stole second, Parton bounced out to the pitcher. King was then hit by a pitch, putting men on first and third. Schram then, blasted his second hit to end the game.

Marciano Begins Treatments to Avoid Surgery

BROCKTON, Mass. — Retired heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano today began treatments aimed at averting possible surgery for a ruptured spinal disc suffered while romping with his 3-year-old daughter.

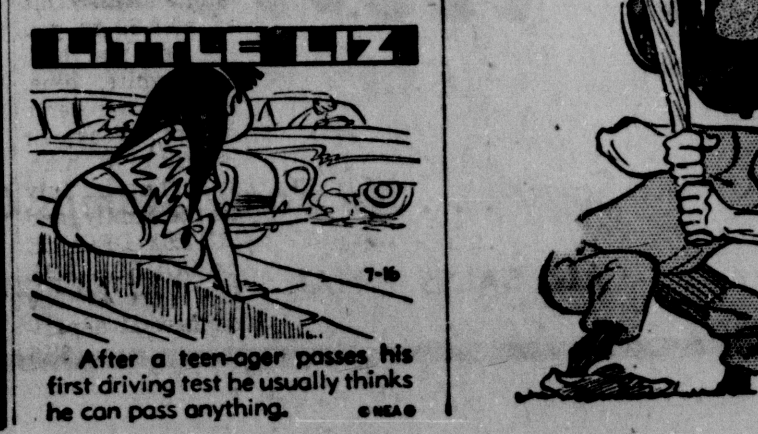

Dr. Nathaniel Gould, orthopedic surgeon at Brockton Hospital, said the 31-year-old Marciano would receive rest, heat massage and physiotherapy treatments "for two or three weeks."

If the treatments fail to correct the condition caused last week, "the question of surgery will then have to be considered," Gould said Tuesday after diagnosing the injury.

Rocky was confident that surgery would not be necessary. But he reiterated strongly that even if the condition is cleared up he has no intention of returning to the ring.

White Sox Buy Pitcher Kinder From Cardinals

CHICAGO — The Chicago White Sox today announced they have acquired veteran righthander Ellis Kinder from the St. Louis Cardinals for the $10,000 waiver price. A spokesman for the American League club said Kinder will report to the Sox on their current eastern trip.

The Atkins, Ark., native, who will be 42 years old July 26, broke into the major leagues with the old St. Louis Browns in 1946. In 1947 he was traded to the Boston Red Sox with whom he played until 1955 when he went to the Cardinals in the National League.

In his last season with Boston he appeared in 43 games and had a 5-5 won and lost record and a 2.82 earned run average.

The Sox said they will eliminate one player to make room for Kinder.

Alston Credits Clutch Pitching of Antonelli as Factor in National League Win; Stengel Praises Boyer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Alston credited the clutch relief pitching of Johnny Antonelli as the major factor today in the National League's 7-3 victory in the 23rd renewal of the All-Star game.

"Of course, that hitting didn't hurt us, either," said the Dodger manager who piloted the National Leaguers to their sixth win in the last seven All-Star games.

"But Antonelli went out there and shut the door in their faces just when it looked like maybe they were going to catch up with us," Casey Stengel, who lost his fifth game in six tries as the manager of an American League team, agreed that pitching "beat us."

"Theirs and ours," he said. He refused to go along with a questioner who asked if he thought he was jinxed as an All-Star pilot.

"Jinx, hell," he snapped. "Give me some pitching and I'll win."

He agreed with Alston that Antonelli was a key factor, but added:

"Their third baseman (Ken Boyer of the Cardinals) made some good plays and some good hits."

Pierce Losing Hurler

Boyer got three of the 11 hits with which the Nationals bombarded the six pitchers whom Stengel used, starting with Billy Pierce, the 13-game winner of the Chicago White Sox, who was charged with the loss when he yielded the Nationals' first run in the third inning.

Boyer's hits were all singles, but he batted in a run and scored another. Willie Mays and Stan Musial, each with home runs, and big Ted Kluszewski with two doubles, led the long range clouting.

That more than offset the two home runs which accounted for the American League scoring in the sixth inning. The Americans were behind, 5-0, when Ted Williams belted his fourth All-Star home with Nellie Fox on base and Mickey Mantle, who struck out three times, followed with another homer.

Those blows came off Warren Spahn, the second of the three hurlers Alston used. That's when Antonelli came in and took over.

Stan Regains Record

Williams homer tied him with Musial for hitting the most homers in All-Star competition, but Musial didn't wait long to get the record back, for in the seventh he cracked his fifth.

Bob Friend, the 11-game winning right hander of the Pirates, started for the National League and was credited with the victory.

Williams called him "a helluva pitcher."

"I was warned to watch for his fast ball, but he showed me nothing but slow stuff with a fast ball motion," Williams said. "He really fooled me."

Friend got Ted on a strike out in the first and a simple ground ball in the second.

Friend gave up only three hits. Spahn gave up only one hit in his first two innings he worked and then ran into that sixth inning storm when he gave up three hits, including those two homers.

Pitched Four Innings

Antonelli yielded four hits, two to the first two batters he faced in the sixth, and the other two with one man out in the ninth. Actually, the Giant stopgap pitched four innings. Under All-Star rules no pitcher can start more than three innings unless the game goes into extra innings, but Antonelli was permitted to go as long as he did because he did not start the sixth.

The National League also scored off Whitey Ford, Jim Wilson and Tom Brewer, who followed Pierce in that order. Only Herb Score, who hurled the eighth and Early Wynn, who worked the ninth, were able to hold the Nationals at bay.

The run off Pierce came when Roy McMillan, one of the five Cincinnati Redlegs in the starting line-up, singled, went to second on Friend's sacrifice and scored on Johnny Temple's single.

Ford started out well enough when he struck out Musial to open the fourth, but then Boyer singled and Mays, pinch hitting for Gus Bell, hit his home run.

Stengel called on Wilson, a right hander in the fifth. Temple greeted him with a bunt single down the third base line and he went to second as Musial grounded out. Boyer's third single scored him.

FBI Enters Investigation of Kidnaping of Month-Old Baby

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — The FBI threw its "full resources" today into investigation of the July 4 kidnaping of month-old Peter Weinberger.

Announcement that the FBI had "actively entered" the case was made in Washington by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover. It came shortly after George Gatins, chief resident FBI agent for Nassau County conferred with Nassau County Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinell at his Mineola, N. Y., office.

The federal agency became free to enter the case officially at the expiration of a seven-day period. After that time, federal law "presumes" a kidnapped person has been taken across state lines.

The FBI had been in constant touch with the family on an unofficial basis since the child was abducted, however.

Local police said earlier today that the ransom note left by Peter's carriage a week ago may itself have been a hoax to cover a person who wanted the child, not the money.

Mrs. Betty Weinberger was lured Tuesday to two more fake meetings with the supposed kidnaper.

Earlier in the day, a hoax telephone call from a fast-talking woman sent police on another fruitless search for the missing baby in a Long Island convent.

Two Men Arraigned

The hoax telephone calls were disclosed by the Rev. Thomas Code, Roman Catholic pastor who has offered to serve as an intermediary between the kidnaper and the family.

The callers, one a man and the other a woman, told the Weinbergers they were not interested in the $5,000 ransom but had information about the kidnaping. Neither appeared at the appointed rendezvous times with Mrs. Weinberger.

"These people are behaving awfully with these fake advances," the priest said.

Mrs. Weinberger faced another ordeal Tuesday when she appeared at a felony court in Queens County for the arraignment of two men who falsely raised her hopes for seven hours in a cruel hoax Sunday.

Robert F. Giebler, 26, of Jackson Heights, Long Island, and Gordon T. Rowell, 24, of Sunnyside, Long Island, were held without bail by Magistrate James E. LoPiccolo for hearings Monday.

Giebler and Rowell, both unemployed, were charged with attempted extortion and giving false information about a kidnaping. Police said the pair made seven telephone calls, once drawing Mrs. Weinberger on a 15-mile fruitless chase with the $5,000 ransom money. They face possible 25-year prison sentences.

ported to have been cashed at a Chicago bank.

The lawyer for the bank, the Southmoor Trust and Savings Bank, was asked by Contrakon for more details about his statement that the bank cashed some of the checks for a top aide of Hodge.

After Hodge walked out of the conference with Contrakon, the prosecutor immediately called in reporters. He had a court reporter read them an account of his conversation with Hodge.

The report quoted Contrakon as saying "I'm getting tired of getting pushed around. You get your attorneys and let's get going."

Contrakon said he would have the sheriff serve a subpoena on Hodge "right away."

Hodge said his lawyer was Arthur Fitzgerald; Epping's lawyer is William A. Fuiten, a partner of Fitzgerald. Epping's attorney told Contrakon he would allow Epping to talk to him only in Fuiten's office and without a reporter present.

Open Drive for Full Aid Funds

By United Press
The administration opened a new drive in Congress today to get a full four billion dollars in cash for its battered foreign aid program.

Spearheading the drive was Rep. John Taber of New York, ranking Republican member of the House Appropriations committee who often has led economy forces in curtailing foreign aid spending.

Taber told the House the committee "cut too deep" in chopping 600 million dollars off the authorized spending figure. It might be necessary to send "large numbers" of American troops overseas unless the funds are restored, he said.
